

Parent Supporting Parents Group for Exploitation

About the group

We have developed a parent supporting parents group to support families whose children are being exploited or are at risk of being exploited and as a pro-active approach for supporting parents with younger siblings also to reduce the risk of exploitation for siblings.

The group is supported by a vulnerability families first practitioner who will be able to guide, advise and support you to support your children with the sharing of advice and guidance, resources, and tools within this group.

The group is a supportive place for families with peer support from other families experiencing similar situations.
